

I would like to see more licensed spectrum and at higher power levels available in rural areas. I work for a small ISP and we would like to use a licensed band but have been unable to because the license holder for the MMDS band remains difficult to contact and does not seem to have plans to setup any services using that band in Steamboat. By allowing for licensing in a smaller geographic area like Steamboat, we could take advantage of the MMDS band and offer better service to our subscribers over a larger area.
